NORTH MISSISSIPPI MEDICAL CLINICS
SELECT EMPLOYEE OF THE MONTH

FULTON, Miss.—Melanie Lindley of Fulton has been chosen as the April Employee of the Month for North Mississippi Medical Clinics.

Lindley works as an admissions/discharge specialist at Fulton Medical Clinic, where she has been employed since February 1999.

Lindley is a graduate of Itawamba Agricultural High School and attended Itawamba Community College. She is currently working toward an associate's degree in applied sciences from East Mississippi Community College.

"Melanie is constantly looking for ways to improve our clinic," said her coworker Sonya Umfress. "We all call Melanie if there is a problem because she can either fix it or find someone who can. She is such a joy to work with, and she goes above and beyond in her job."

"Melanie is very compassionate, always wanting to do what is right for the patient," said Ray Arriola, M.D., physician at Fulton Medical Clinic. "She recognizes when a patient needs an extra minute to talk. She shows great respect to others and treats everyone the way they need and deserve to be treated. She always has a brightness about her and a smile on her face."

"What I love most about my job are the patients," Lindley said. "Over my years at Fulton Medical Clinic, I have met so many different people. Every day is a new adventure and I guess that's why I love my job. Plus all the wonderful people I work with."

Lindley has two sons – Andrew and Austin, and one grandson, Hunter. She attends Bethel Baptist Church and is involved in her community. She helps with the annual Women's Heart Luncheon, Senior Citizens' Day at ICC and Relay for Life.

The Employee of the Month honor recognizes employees with exemplary job performance and customer service skills, as well as community involvement.
