TUTOR PROMOTED TO DIRECTOR OF HOME HEALTH AND HOSPICE

TUPELO, Miss.—Kim Hall Tutor, RN, has been promoted to director of North Mississippi Medical Center Home Health and Hospice.

Before her promotion, Tutor served as assistant director since 2005. Tutor joined NMMC's staff in 1982 as a ward secretary in oncology. She transferred to Home Health in 1992, where she served in various roles before she became assistant director.

She received a bachelor's degree in nursing from Mississippi University for Women in Columbus in 1986. In 2008, she received a master's degree in health administration from the University of Alabama-Birmingham.

Tutor is married to Lee Tutor and has one daughter, 15-year-old Emily Hall. The family attends Harrisburg Baptist Church.

NMMC Home Health and Hospice serves 18 counties in northeast Mississippi. These services allow patients to remain in their home with family members participating in their care. Technology has developed to the point where almost any service available in a hospital can be delivered in the home setting with some modification.
